

Ian Parrish Speaks at 6th Annual Maryland Hispanic Business Conference

IU President Discusses How to Use Real Estate to Amass Wealth

Ian Parrish joined other top leaders in business and government at the Sixth Annual Maryland Hispanic Business Conference, held at the BWI Airport Hotel and Conference Center on October 24, 2007. Promoted by the Maryland Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, the event was organized to serve the 20,000-plus Hispanic businesses in Maryland, and to equip the fast-growing community with the tools they need to prosper.

Parrish was invited to join three other panelists to explore the topic “Real Estate and Amassing Your Wealth. Moderated by Conference Chair Veronica Cool, the panel discussed the advantages of investing in real estate, and explained the importance of proper timing, and strategies for structuring a deal, as well as available options for controlling property, partnering opportunities and more.

Investors United is well known in the Hispanic business community, and Ian Parrish is respected for his commitment to the community and his expertise in real estate investing. The discussion, therefore, attracted a large audience.
